The fact is, there are ways to get a big butt without having to have a booty-shaping specialist work on your butt. It's true that a lot of people see these methods as too much work. There are many ways to get a big butt that don't involve surgery. You can: Do squats Work on your inner thighs You can add a kick-start to your workout by doing leg curls and leg extensions on one leg at a time. The idea is to really work that muscle group and increase the range of motion. Lift heavy weights Add weight to all your exercises, but it's not like you will be using dumbbells. You can attach weight to a kettle bell or a military barbells. You can also find weights that you can attach to a suspension strap. You can add weights to squats if you choose to do so. This is often done to get a bigger butt. While it is true that if you do this for a month, you will get a bigger butt, there is a better way to do this. You can buy a weight belt or weight attachments for a small kettle bell or dumbbell. This will help you get a fuller backside without lifting weights. Using a water bottle You can also use a water bottle to exercise with. This will help you get a bigger butt and burn fat at the same time. You can also use a bottle to carry extra water while you're at work. You can even take your bottle with you if you have to work late at night. You can also fill a water bottle with ice. The ice will help you to work your muscles and you will sweat more. This will help to build muscle and help you get a bigger butt. There are many ways to get a bigger butt if you do some research. Some of these methods may work for you. You may see results in one day. For others, it may take more time. You need to work at these methods for a while 82157476af
